Let's Start!

Yesterday was awesome! So many things happened!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about travel and vacations in social situations.

Ask your partner:

- What are 3 very important events in your life?
- What happened?
- Why are they important?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about a key life event.
- I can report about things, actions, events, or people.
- I can ask who, what, when, where questions.

Let's Explore!

John has enough memories to last him a lifetime! Is Peter's life exciting too? Let's find out!

* To "last a lifetime" is an expression. It means a long period of time.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Peter: Hey! Where are you right now?
John: I'm back in Belize City.
Peter: When did you get back?
John: A few hours ago. I'm still thinking about the River Challenge.
Peter: Sounds like you really enjoyed the race, huh?
John: It was a life-changing experience. Did you know that it was the first time I ever capsized a boat?
Peter: How did you feel?
John: I was scared, but we got through it! We really bonded as a team!
Peter: I see ... One for the history books!
John: Yeah, you can say that.
Peter: What else did you do with your group?
John: Not much! We were so tired after the race! It was so eventful.
Peter: I can't remember the last time my life was so exciting.
John: Oh, Peter, your life is not boring. You're going to be a memorable business man someday!

Let's Practice!

John had so many things to tell Peter! Do you remember what he said?

Instructions: Read the dialogue again. Select all the correct answers.

1. Which statements are true about John?
 - a. He was tired after the race.
 - b. He arrived in Belize City a few days ago.
 - c. He arrived in Belize City a few hours ago.
 - d. He did not enjoy the race.
 - e. He really enjoyed the race.
 - f. Many things happened during the race.
 - g. Not much happened during the race.

Let's Practice!

John's adventure was memorable! Peter has a lot of questions for him.

Instructions: Draw a line from the statement on the left to the corresponding question on the right.
